York University is the leading interdisciplinary research and teaching university in Canada. York offers a modern, academic experience at the undergraduate and graduate levels in Toronto – Canada's most international city. The third largest university in the country, York is host to a dynamic academic community of 62,000 students, faculty and staff, as well as 295,000 alumni worldwide. York’s 11 Faculties and 25 research centres conduct ambitious, ground-breaking research that is interdisciplinary and cuts across traditional academic boundaries.

Description of Position:
York University Libraries’ (YUL) Division of Teaching & Learning seeks a dynamic and innovative librarian to work on a part-time basis, with a primary focus on teaching, developing subject specific eLearning materials, supporting digital projects and providing research and consultation help as necessary.

The Student Learning & Academic Success (SLAS) Department offers an active and engaging information literacy program that aims to enable students, faculty, and others to recognize the social context of information, to develop information-seeking behaviours that transcend specific finding tools, and to think critically about information.

Specific Duties:
Reporting to the Director of SLAS and the Director, Learning Commons & Reference Services, the successful candidates will:

- Work collaboratively within the SLAS team to produce asynchronous and interactive teaching resources that support student research, projects and assignments.
- Conduct data collection and analysis of teaching and learning initiatives
- Work collaboratively within SLAS to devise learning outcomes and design assessment techniques to underpin both synchronous and asynchronous information literacy instruction
- Work collaboratively on supporting Academic Integrity initiatives spearheaded by York University Libraries in partnership with other campus stakeholders.
- Work with RWD techniques, H5P and video editing software to design interactive eLearning resources.
- Instruct information literacy classes/workshops (general/introductory and subject-specific), especially for social sciences/humanities, with a focus on synchronous and asynchronous teaching, to support programs.
- Provides timely, high-quality research help services, primarily in the form of consultation services for social sciences and humanities areas, as assigned.
- Use Microsoft Teams to collaborate and create documentation and training modules
- Assist in creating training materials and supporting documentation
- Create/maintain online research guides and tutorials
- Perform other duties as assigned
Qualifications:

- An ALA-accredited MLS or equivalent
- Demonstrated knowledge and skills with library instruction techniques, technologies and information literacy theories, including ACRL’s Framework for Information Literacy for Higher Education
- Demonstrated experience creating impactful online teaching resources using RWD technologies as well as H5P and video animation tools
- Demonstrated ability to deliver student-centered information literacy sessions clearly and concisely
- Experience in social sciences/humanities librarianship within an academic institution
- Demonstrated aptitude for independent learning and mastery of technology/software with an aptitude for technical troubleshooting
- Demonstrated substantial knowledge of social sciences and humanities resources
- Demonstrated knowledge of emerging trends in scholarly communications (open access, author rights), copyright, and library and information technologies
- Demonstrated initiative and strong project management skills
- Ability to work independently and in collaboration with others
- Independent learner, capable of resolving technical questions by leveraging on-line support networks
- Strong service orientation with a professional, helpful, and friendly demeanor
- Strong independent research, problem solving and troubleshooting skills
- Flexible attitude and ability to adapt to a changing environment
- Ability to balance and prioritize multiple responsibilities
- Demonstrated experience and strong communication skills in negotiating reference queries in social sciences/humanities including the ability to both teach and contextualize relevant resources relative to a patron’s information needs
- Demonstrated knowledge of and ability to use current technologies used in libraries
- Strong communication and interpersonal skills
- Ability to learn quickly and be able to perform in a fast-paced working environment
- Demonstrated commitment to high quality service
