**In line with the easing of public health restrictions in other sectors in Toronto and across the province, York paused its COVID-19 Vaccination Mandate effective May 1, 2022. This decision is supported by advice from government and public health authorities and is consistent with the approach taken by other Ontario universities. If the University reinstates its COVID-19 Vaccination Mandate, employees may have in-person work interrupted if out of compliance with university requirements.**
